Please be sure to use the Correct Naming Conventions when uploading online:

Architectural or Professional Engineered drawings and/or plans must follow the file naming conventions outlined below in order to be accepted by the system and automatically organized. File names must start with the appropriate prefix to identify their type.

Refer to the chart below to identify the prefix. The prefix should be followed by a three digit sequential number identifying the order of the pages starting with 001, then 002, and so on for each page in the plan file. You must label every sheet that you upload in sequential order and not skip any numbers. After the prefix and sequential page number, please enter the sheet number that the design professional gave to that page, usually found in the lower right-hand corner of the document. Finally, add a short description of what that plan sheet is showing such as "First-floor"

Example: A001-A1.1-First-Floor.pdf

- ✓ File names must include the prefix which is known as the description code.
- ✓ Only PDF files are accepted.
- ✓ Files are accepted in portrait or landscape orientation.
- ✓ Only one page per file is allowed.
- ✓ File names must not exceed 40 characters.
- ✓ You may use dashes to separate words in the file name or push the words together as in the examples above. Do not leave any blank spaces or use commas or special characters.

E-Submittal Plan naming conventions:

Project Documentation File Naming Conventions

Any supporting document that is not part of the architectural or Professional Engineered drawings and/or plans set must have a "PD-" prefix in order for the system to accept the upload. After the prefix, add a short description of the file such as "energy-calcs". For this example, you would save the file as "PD-Energy-Calcs.pdf".

Here is a helpful list of requirements:

- ✓ File names must include the prefix (PD-) which is known as the description code.
- ✓ Must be PDF format.
- ✓ Files are accepted in portrait orientation.
- ✓ Multiple pages per file is allowed.
- ✓ File names must not exceed 40 characters.
