I. Introduction and Executive Summary

A. Background

Orange County continuously undertakes various housing and community development programs intended to develop viable urban communities with decent housing and a suitable living environment, and to expand economic opportunities, especially for low- to moderate-income persons. To carry out those programs and associated activities, the County seeks funding from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under 24 CFR Parts 91 and 570, the Consolidated Planning process. The Consolidated Planning process combines major federal grants, such as the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), the HOME Investment Partnership Program (HOME), and the Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG).

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has a commitment to eliminate discriminatory practices in housing and an obligation, under Section 808 of the Fair Housing Act, to encourage the adoption and enforcement of fair housing laws in federally funded housing and community development programs. Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and implementing regulations in 24 CFR Part 1 prohibit discrimination in any program or activity funded in whole or in part with federal funds made available under this part. In addition to its responsibility for enforcing other Federal statutes prohibiting discrimination in housing, HUD has a statutory obligation under Section 109 of the HCD Act of 1974, Title I, prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, disability, age, religion, and sex within Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) programs or activities.

As a requirement for receiving these entitlement funds, jurisdictions must submit a certification to HUD to Affirmatively Further Fair Housing, the prerequisite to which is the completion of an Analysis of Impediments (AI) to Fair Housing Choice.

B. Structure

This 2016-2020 Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI) is an update to the 2011-2016 Analysis of Impediments that reflects changes in the jurisdictional background data, assesses progress towards overcoming fair housing impediments and challenges identified for both public and private sectors by the previous Analysis, and it states whether or not recommended actions to overcome identified impediments were taken. This analysis also describes any new impediments that have been identified based on the analysis of the latest data and provides an updated list of recommended actions to overcome each of these impediments.

Similarly to the previous AI, this document was developed with broad involvement and guidance from the City of Orlando and Orange County staff, housing advocacy groups and community representatives. The Orange County Housing and Community Development Division staff coordinated collection and analysis of data for the final report and oversaw the overall planning process, and it will monitor progress on the recommended actions for Orange County over the next five year period.

The 2016-2020 Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice is structured as follows:

- Introduction and Executive Summary includes a list of participants, methodology used, assessment of actions recommended by the 2011-2016 Analysis of Impediments, any new impediments found and recommended actions to overcome them;
- Jurisdictional Background Data includes demographic, income, and employment data, and housing profile;
- Identification of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice includes public and private sector impediments;
- Assessment of Fair Housing Programs and Activities; and
- Conclusions and Recommendations.

This document also has numerous appendixes, including a summary of the Fair Housing Focus Group discussion, an overview of fair housing laws and resources, and maintenance of records procedures.

C. Fair Housing Certification

Certification to Affirmatively Further Fair Housing

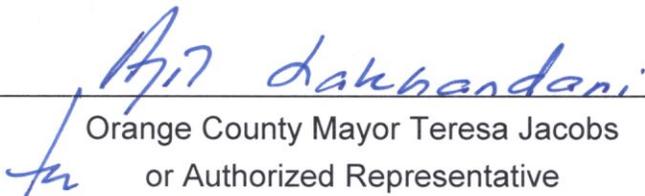

In Orange County, the designated entity for the submission of the Consolidated Plan and the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing is the Housing and Community Development Division. Orange County's last Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice was completed in 2011.

The Orange County Housing and Community Development Division Mission

To create and maintain a viable urban community by providing affordable housing opportunities, neighborhood improvements, human services and expanded opportunities principally for low and moderate income residents of Orange County.

Commitment to Fair Housing

In accordance with the applicable statutes and the regulations governing the Consolidated Plan, Orange County certifies that it will affirmatively further fair housing. This means that the jurisdiction has conducted an analysis of impediments to fair housing choice within the jurisdiction, will take appropriate actions to overcome the effects of any impediments identified through that analysis, and maintain records reflecting that analysis and actions in this regard.

D. Participants

To develop a comprehensive Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice, The Orange County Housing and Community Development Division has collaborated with a number of private and public entities on collecting data and coordinating the analysis portion of the document.

In a joint effort to affirmatively further fair housing, both Orange County and the City of Orlando have incorporated into their documents information and recommendations received from the City of Orlando's Office of Community Affairs-Human Relations, the Fair Housing Continuum, and Community Legal Services. The coordination was done via email communication, telephone conferences, and one-on-one meetings.

Collaboration with private and public entities, including non-profit agencies, was done using an online survey tool (via SurveyMonkey) and in a focus group setting, both of which are described below.

In November of 2015, a survey was distributed by the City of Orlando to a broad spectrum of organizations representing affordable housing agencies, research institutions, social services, finance institutions, education and job training organizations, employment services, and healthcare, many of whom serve and advocate on behalf of protected classes. Of the 125 organizations that received the survey, the following 22 agencies submitted responses:

1. Ability Housing
2. Attain, Inc.
3. Blueprint
4. City Year
5. Coalition for the Homeless of Central Florida
6. Community Builders Group
7. Early Learning Coalition of Orange County
8. Easter Seals
9. Grand Avenue Economic Community Development Corp.
10. H.A.N.D.S.
11. Harbor House
12. Heart to Heart Homes
13. Homeless Services Network
14. Idignity
15. Orlando Neighborhood Improvement Corp.
16. Primrose Center, Inc.
17. Salvation Army

18. Second Harvest Food Bank of Central Florida
19. Shimberg Center
20. Wayne Densch Center
21. Wells Fargo
22. Xtending Hands

While the online survey was developed for a broader topic of consolidated planning, most of the survey questions were aligned with fair housing issues affecting our community. These questions capture information about areas of low-income and racial/ethnic minority concentrations, their market characteristics and potential assets and opportunities, and planned actions for fostering and maintaining affordable housing in the community.

Additionally, a number of private entities involved in the provision of housing to low- to moderate income persons and housing finance were invited to participate in the Fair Housing Focus Group meeting conducted on February 18, 2016. The purpose of the focus group was to facilitate communication among fair housing advocacy groups and non-profit organizations and jurisdictions to obtain input for this document. The meeting provided an opportunity to discuss and prioritize actions that should be taken to address needs of underserved areas, foster and maintain affordable housing, reduce the number of families that live below the poverty level, and enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies. The meeting was hosted by the Orlando Housing Authority. The following agencies were present:

1. Ability Housing
2. BB&T
3. Center for Multicultural Wellness and Prevention
4. Community Builders Group
5. Consumer Credit Counseling Services
6. Embrace Home Loans
7. Fair Housing Continuum
8. Family Promise of Greater Orlando
9. Habitat for Humanity of Greater Orlando
10. Hamilton Group Funding
11. H.A.N.D.S.
12. Harbor House of Central Florida
13. Home Foundation Mortgage
14. Homeless Services Network of Central Florida
15. JFS Orlando
16. Miracle of Love

17. Osceola County Government
18. Picerne Development
19. Premium Properties Real Estate
20. Primeco, LLC
21. Professional Management
22. Prospect Mortgage
23. Life Concepts (dba Quest)
24. Sagamore Home Mortgage
25. Seminole County Government
26. The Salvation Army
27. United Global Outreach
28. Weather Consultants

The Focus Group meeting discussion was structured around five primary topics: 1) each organization's knowledge of Fair Housing policies and their implementation; 2) housing affordability and its effect on the community; 3) lending practices in minority neighborhoods; 4) housing market characteristics in areas of racial/ethnic minority concentration and ways to improve them; and 5) actions that should be taken to address needs of underserved areas, foster and maintain affordable housing, reduce the number of poverty-level families, and enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies. More details on the results of the Focus Group meeting are provided in the following section and in Appendix A.

E. Methodology Used

This Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice was developed using several methods of data collection and data analysis. The document methodology includes the following:

- Literature review: staff reviewed various published articles and reports to identify the latest research on the issues of fair housing, housing affordability, lending practices, and housing market trends;
- Quantitative data: staff collected and analyzed demographic, income, and housing data from the U.S. Census Bureau (www.census.gov), American Community Survey (<http://factfinder.census.gov>), and the U.S. Department of Housing and Community Development (www.hudexchange.info); and
- Qualitative data: staff obtained qualitative data through the Focus Group discussion, an online survey (via SurveyMonkey), and additional one-on-one meetings with representative of public and private agencies involved in provision of housing to low- to moderate persons and households.

F. Conclusions

The analysis of quantitative and qualitative data for Orange County indicates that fair housing issues are still present, even if not severe. The number of fair housing complaints has declined over the past few years, from 106 complaints in 2012 to 34 complaints in 2015. Overview of the fair housing complaints filed in the County indicates that the primary target group for housing discrimination is persons with disabilities requesting accommodations. Additionally, families with children and women continue to experience discrimination in housing choice.

Analysis of economic, demographic, income, and housing data, combined with published research and results of the Fair Housing Focus Group discussion indicates that certain impediments to fair housing choice still exist in the County, and actions need to be taken to address them. For the purpose of this analysis, impediments are defined as actions, omissions, or decisions that adversely impact fair housing choice.

Impediments Found

The following impediments were found in the public sector:

- Insufficient supply of affordable housing units, especially for the elderly, persons with disabilities, and large families.
- Lack of affordable housing options, including rental and homeownership opportunities, for very low- and low-income households.
- Lack of fair housing information and training available to new County residents, especially immigrants.
- Lack of sufficient public transportation options that are accessible and cost permissive.
- Limited supply of public housing.
- Need for continuous fair housing education and training among elected and appointed public officials and Boards involved in the land development approval process.
- Need to create a comprehensive policy framework supporting various affordable housing options, such as mixed income development, infill development, and transit-oriented development in the County.

The following impediments were found in the private sector:

- Aggressive purchasing of single-family housing in bulk by private investors for use as rental housing, which diminishes affordable housing inventory for potential homebuyers.
- Emergence of subprime lending products and predatory housing scams.

- History of discriminatory lending practices and heightened lending standards that make it difficult for minority populations and low income households to obtain mortgages.
- Need for fair housing education and training, including information on enforcement mechanisms and penalties involved.
- Need for advanced education of property management companies administering rental applications, including training on creditworthiness, previous evictions, and criminal history as standards most affecting ability of minority and low income individuals to obtain rental housing.

The following impediments were found in both public and private sectors:

- Need for expanded diversity training, to include training on discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, among property managers and subrecipients of federal funds.
- Need for continuous education about new and emerging fair housing issues for public and non-profit agencies, financial institutions and property management companies, and developers of affordable housing units.

Recommended Actions to Address Impediments

1. Continue to support and fund affordable housing projects, including those that serve disabled populations, the elderly, and families with children.
2. Continue to promote Fair Housing Month in order to raise awareness about housing discrimination in the community.
3. Conduct pair fair housing testing in the local housing industry on a regular basis.
4. Expand fair housing training to include public officials, property management companies, future first-time home buyers, and Section 8 residents.
5. Simplify access to information about fair housing and affordable housing projects for those looking to rent or buy.
6. Develop new fair housing outreach materials that include any new or evolving issues of concern related to fair housing practices, as well as emerging housing issues.
7. Expand fair housing outreach efforts to include hard-to-reach populations and Non-English speakers.
8. Work closely with consumer advocacy groups to raise awareness about housing scams and predatory housing and lending practices.

II. Jurisdictional Background Data

A. Demographic Data

Orange County is one of the most populated and fast growing counties in the State of Florida. It is close to 1,000 square miles in size, contains thirteen municipalities, and it is located in the heart of the Central Florida region. The County is currently home to more than 1,200,000 people, and it experiences a continuous influx of people from other states and countries, who come here for Florida's weather and its economic opportunities.

Table 1 below summarizes the County's demographic information broken down by sex and age. The table indicates that a large part of the County's total population, more than 44%, fall within the 25-54 age groups, more than 34% are 24 years of age or younger, and 21.5% are over the age of 55.

The population projections completed by the Bureau of Economic and Business Research at the University of Florida are presented in Table 2 below. It is customary to use medium population projections as they have proven to be more accurate in the past. Based on the medium projections, Orange County's population is expected to increase by 12% by the year 2020 (in comparison to the 2015 numbers), and by more than 52% by the year 2040. Therefore, the County will continue to grow at a steady pace and will have to house many more people as a result.

Table 3 describes the County's racial composition and percentage of the total population that is Hispanic. The majority of Orange County's population, or close to 68%, is White, followed by 22% of African American population, 6% of Asian population, and 6% of population of some other race. More than 29% of the County's population is Hispanic, of which close to 14% are Puerto Ricans. This information is consistent with recent studies and publications on the increased migration of Puerto Ricans to Florida, and to Central Florida in particular.

As can be seen from Figure 1, the African American population is mostly concentrated along the west side of Downtown Orlando, in areas known as Pine Hills and Holden Heights, while the Hispanic population is clustered around the Orlando International Airport, along Semoran Boulevard and East Colonial Drive, and in the area known as Azalea Park.

Table 4 summarizes the data on in-migration and national origin of County residents. It indicates that close to 10% of the County population has moved into the County recently, within the last year – either from another county of state, or from abroad. Approximately 21% of the total population is foreign born, with another 8% born in Puerto Rico. Almost 16% of the County’s total foreign born population and 18% of the County’s residents born in Puerto Rico have moved into the County in the last five years (2010 or later). Of residents born abroad, 17% were born in Asia and 70% in Latin America. Of the total Orange County population 5 years old and over, more than 35% speak a language other than English at home, with the majority of those speaking Spanish. Close to 27% of the County residents speak English less than “very well.”

Table 5 provides characteristics of Orange County residents with disabilities, by disability type, age group, and race (please note that the overall population totals might be slightly different, due to differences in datasets). Based on the information below, approximately 10% of the County residents have one or more disability. The age group of 65 years and over is the most affected, with more than 35% of this population living with a disability. There are no significant gender differences among those with disabilities; at the same time, Asian and Native American populations have the lowest percentages of people with disabilities.

B. Income Data

The following set of tables provides information on income and poverty for Orange County. The Fiscal Year 2015 Area Median Income (AMI) for Orange County was listed at $58,300 (HUD, 2015). Table 6 below indicates that close of 53% of the County households make less than $50,000 in annual income, and another 19% make between $50,000 and $75,000.

Overall, more than 18% of the County’s population and more than 13% of all families live below the poverty level. In addition, 11% of elderly population and more than 53% of related children 17 years of age and younger live in poverty.

Areas depicted in lighter grey color on the map below indicated higher concentrations of poverty. These areas generally overlap with high concentrations of African American population, on the west side of Downtown Orlando.

Additional high-poverty areas are located along Semoran Boulevard, where the Hispanic population is clustered, and east and south of the University of Central Florida (UCF), where a mix of White and Hispanic populations lives; an area near UCF known as the Bithlo community; areas west of Orlando and Interstate 4 known as Holden Heights, Pine Hills, and the Town of Eatonville. An additional low-income area with a small concentration of African American population is located in the City of Apopka; it is also known as South Apopka.

Finally, the 2016 Point-in-Time (PIT) count of sheltered and unsheltered persons in Orange, Osceola, and Seminole counties, conducted on January 27, 2016 by the Homeless Services Network of Central Florida, identified 1,613 homeless individuals. 60% of homeless persons were men, and 40% were women. Overall, families represented 15% of the total homeless population, children accounted for 23%, and veterans for 14%. The majority of the homeless population, or 1,228 persons (~76%), was located in Orange County. Of those individuals, 50% were in emergency shelters, 42% were in transitional housing, and another 8% were unsheltered. In the tri-county area, 69 homeless persons reported HIV/AIDS, 202 persons reported being victims of domestic violence, and 201 persons reported having a mental illness.

According to the Point-in-Time counts, the number of homeless persons continued to decrease over the years, and the 2016 number confirms this trend. The 2016 PIT count showed a 24% decrease in homelessness by comparison to the 2015 PIT count, when 2,112 homeless individuals were identified.

C. Employment Data

Tables 8 and 9 show the educational attainment and poverty levels for the Orange County population 25 year and over. Close to 88% of the County residents 25 years of age or older have obtained at least a high school diploma or higher, with 31% graduating with a bachelor’s degree or higher. 12% of Orange County residents do not have a high school diploma.

Analysis of the correlation between poverty and educational attainment indicates that those with a bachelor’s degree or higher have a much lower poverty rate, in comparison to any other group. Surprisingly, not much difference in poverty level exists among those with no high school diploma, high school graduates, and persons with some college education, as the poverty rate is between 25.2% and 31.2%.

The majority of the Orange County population over 16 years of age is in the labor force. The unemployment rate in the County has dropped significantly in the past few years, and it is currently at 7.9%. It should be noted that the employment rate differs among racial/ethnic groups. For instance, the highest unemployment rate of 12.1% is for African Americans; it is 9.3% for Hispanics, but only 6.4% for the White population and 4.4% for the Asian population. Only 44% of those below poverty level are employed, and only 33% of persons with disabilities have jobs. Based on the level of education, the unemployment rate is the highest for persons without a high school diploma (11.8%).

As for the industry types, the highest percentage – 19% of residents – are employed in the leisure and hospitality industry, followed by education, health care, and social assistance (almost 19%). Professional and administrative jobs account for 14.5% of all workers, and retail jobs account for 13%. It is important to point out that leisure and hospitality industry jobs, as well as retail jobs, are traditionally lower paid positions. Furthermore, those jobs are often located in the tourist areas of the County, such as International Drive, Universal Orlando area, Downtown Orlando, and close to the Orlando International Airport. Affordable housing that is suitable for lower income residents might not always be available in close proximity to those job centers, and transportation can often be an issue.

Table 12 below indicates that it takes County residents, on average, close to half an hour to get to work. Most residents (79%) commute by car alone, with less than 3% of workers using public transportation. This data does not, however, take into consideration a SunRail commuter rail system that opened on May 1, 2014. The SunRail, being a rather affordable transportation option and connecting together three counties in its Phase I, can potentially expand employment options for Orange County residents, especially those residents with lower income living in close proximity to the SunRail stations.

Below is the list of the largest employers in Orange County, excluding government and retail operations. Of the top ten employers, six companies represent leisure and hospitality industry. Another two are hospitals, both of which now have SunRail stations on their campuses, allowing their employees get easier access to their jobs, without the need to drive.

D. Housing Profile

Table 14 provides basic information of the County's household composition. There are 444,543 households in Orange County, with an average household size of 2.75 persons. According to the Census definition, a household includes all persons who occupy a housing unit. Almost 64% of households are families, and 36% are non-family households. More than 30,000 County residents, or 6.5% of households are older adults (65 years and over) living alone.

There are 495,966 housing units in Orange County, of which 14.6% are vacant. The vacancy rate is 2.6% for owner-occupied units and 9.6% for renter-occupied units. Of all units, 56% are owner-occupied, and 44% are renter-occupied units. The vast majority of households that own a home in Orange County are White (75.9%), followed by Hispanics (18.3%) and African Americans (13.4%). The households that are renting are also predominantly White (62.2%), followed by Hispanics (32.4%) and African American households (25.3%). This statistic is consistent with the overall racial and ethnic composition of the County's population. It is important to note that White and Asian households typically own their homes, while African American and Hispanic households are primarily renters. This might be related to housing affordability, average household incomes, and stricter lending standards associated with purchasing a home.

Householders who are 44 years of age or younger are more likely to rent, while those who are over 44 are more likely to own a house. The lowest homeownership rates are among householders with the lowest educational attainment level, less than high school diploma (8.3%), followed by those who only have a high school diploma or its equivalent (19.7%). There is also a high degree of mobility among renters, with the vast majority of them (84.2%) moving into their housing in 2010 or later; most homeowners moved into their houses between 2000 and 2009 (41.4%).

Single-family detached units account for almost 57% of the County’s housing stock, mobile homes account for 4%, with the rest being single-family attached/townhomes (~6%), duplexes/triplexes/quadrplexes (~5%), and apartment complexes (28%). The majority of housing units, about 68%, were constructed after 1980; another 21% were constructed between 1960 and 1980; and about 11% of housing units were built prior to 1960. Therefore, the County’s housing stock is relatively new in comparison to other counties in the nation.

According to the data presented in Table 17, almost 61% of all housing units have three bedrooms or more and are, therefore, suitable for large families. However, this data is not broken down by the housing unit type, and it is not clear if a sufficient number of large housing units is available at the price range where the need for those units exists. The over-crowding problem does not appear to be significant, as the large majority of housing units (97.4%) has 1 occupant per room or less. Of all housing units, 3.5% lack complete plumbing or kitchen facilities, or have no telephone service available.

As the price of housing continues to increase, housing affordability for potential home buyers continues to decline, driving up demand for rental units and resulting in their higher costs.

In terms of the housing values of owner-occupied units in Orange County, 26% are valued at below $100,000, 37% are valued over $100,000, but below $200,000, close to 20% are valued over $200,000 and below $300,000, with the remainder 17% valued at above $300,000.

In the past several years, the Central Florida region has been experiencing a significant economic growth, which resulted in the influx of new residents and increased residential construction. Due to the high demand, prices of residential real estate continue to climb. The national foreclosure crisis that preceded this housing boom led to stricter lending practices, which made it difficult for low- to moderate-income households to qualify for a mortgage loan. Such difficulties forced many people to rent, which, in turn, resulted in a shortage of rental housing and higher prices. As affordability of housing in Orange County continues to decline, many households at or below 80% average median income have difficulty trying to find affordable units and end up being cost-burdened by the price of housing.

The majority of Orange County homeowners, or 53.9%, have a mortgage payment between $1,000 and $2,000, with another 28.9% paying $2,000 or more monthly for their home.

Of those who rent, 40.5% pay between $1,000 and $1,499 in monthly rent, and another 13.3% pay more than $1,500. Households that pay more than 30% of income in rent or mortgage costs are considered to be cost-burdened. Table 20 below indicates that more than 60% of households that rent are currently cost-burdened.

Table 21 indicates that the median household income for owner-occupied units is $60,637, while it is only $35,606 for renter-occupied units. Overall, of all households with extremely low income ($20,000 or less), 14.7% are cost-burdened, with 21.7% of extremely low income renters paying 30% or more for their housing costs. 14% of low income households (making between $20,000 and $34,999) are cost burdened, with 20.8% of low-income renters paying 30% or more in housing costs.

Tables 22 and 23 show the number of households, owner occupied and renter occupied, who are cost burdened, or pay 30-50% of their income for housing, as well as severely cost burdened households, who pay 50% or more of their income for housing. Table 23 indicates that 110,517 of Orange County households are severely cost burdened, and the majority of them are renters. Additionally, those who are severely cost burdened mostly fall into the extremely low and very low income categories, with 74,452 households in those categories paying 50% or more of their income in housing costs; 21,346 of low income households are also severely cost burdened.

The average rent for a two-bedroom apartment in the Orlando market area, which is part of Orange County, is $1,003, while an affordable rent for the same unit would be significantly lower - $665. The Out of Reach 2016 report, published by the National Low Income Housing Coalition, states that in order to afford this level of rent and utilities, without paying more than 30% of income for housing, a household must earn more than $41,000 annually, or close to $20 per hour. Given the current Florida minimum wage of $8.05, the average renter wage of $14.49, and predominance of low-wage leisure and hospitality industry jobs in Orange County, housing affordability becomes an issue of great concern.

The National Association of Realtors regularly measures housing affordability for the purpose of figuring out whether or not a typical family (a family earning the median family income) could qualify for a mortgage loan. According to their latest statistics, the Orlando metro area has an affordability index of 170%, meaning that a family earning $33,610 can purchase a home valued at $191,900, as it can easily afford making a monthly payment of $700.22 (Source: www.orlandorealtors.org). However, this affordability index assumes a down payment of 20%, which is rarely feasible for a low income family, and such a down payment standard continues to be a barrier to homeownership for many low income families.

E. Special Populations

The following section addresses the barriers to fair housing choice that special populations may encounter in the Orlando MSA. These special populations include the elderly, persons with physical and developmental disabilities, victims of domestic violence, persons with HIV/AIDS, large families, and persons with different sexual orientation.

Elderly: There are 135,067 seniors (age 65 or older) in Orange County living in 79,238 households, and they represent 10.7% of the County’s population and 17.3% of the County’s households. Approximately 35% of seniors have some type of disability and might need special accommodations; 29% of seniors are still employed; and 11% of seniors live below the poverty level. Of elderly households, 78% own their homes, and about 6.5% of seniors live alone. Seniors often spend a significant amount of their limited income on housing. Although the federal guidelines suggest that 30% of income should be spent on housing for renters and 40% for homeowners, housing costs consume a high percentage of income earned by Florida’s elderly homeowners and tenants. Seniors are more resource constrained due to the fact that they are likely to have higher health care costs and in-home care costs. The data show that 43% of elderly households pay more than 30% of income for rent or mortgage costs.

Table 25: Orange County Elderly Households: Cost Burden

Age of Householder	Households by Amount of Income Paid for Housing
	0-30%	30-49.9%	50+ %
65 or more	44,963	15,581	18,694

Affordable rental housing is also in short supply for low-income elderly households in Orange County. Elderly persons have a difficult time finding rental housing to suit their incomes and needs, which include mobility and accessibility, support services such as meals and transportation, and the placement of housing close to services and community functions. Providing community-based affordable housing allows elderly persons to live independently and be integrated within the community. Subsidized assisted living units for low-income seniors remain at full occupancy due to the high demand for these units.

A recent analysis, Affordable Housing for Older Adults: The Florida Picture, conducted by the Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, concluded that the total number of elderly households in Florida is projected to increase, and it will account for 37% of the total state population. At the same time, the number of cost burdened elderly households that rent will also continue to increase. Therefore, there will be an increased need for both preservation and construction of additional affordable housing for this population.

Persons with Disabilities: Housing affordability and accessibility is a significant problem for persons with disabilities. There are estimated 117,427 residents with disabilities in Orange County, and almost 24% of them, or 28,028 residents, live below the poverty level. The unemployment rate among individuals with disabilities is 20%, which is much higher than for people with no disabilities. Several local non-profit agencies work with persons with disabilities to provide them with work training and help with job placement. Physical barriers, such as narrow doorways, lack of ramps, high counter heights, and appliance design, limit the supply of housing available to this group.

Victims of Domestic Violence: Based on the data from local non-profit agencies and statistics from the Florida Coalition Against Domestic Violence, the State of Florida has an estimated 132,000 incidents of domestic violence annually, as an estimated 80% of incidents are still going unreported. The County has second highest per capita number of incidents of domestic violence in Florida. The Florida Department of Children and Families reported that domestic violence is the leading cause of children's abuse. In 2013, one third of all homicides in Orange County were a result of domestic violence.

Survivors of domestic violence can access local shelters, but due to safety issues, these locations are kept confidential. After spending time at these shelters, some survivors may be able to qualify for a rapid re-housing program. However, there are very limited options for homeless families with children. Victims of domestic violence face many obstacles in the search for housing, and finding safe, affordable housing is the number one concern for women in domestic violence shelters throughout the state.

Harbor House of Central Florida, located in Orange County, is one of the largest domestic violence shelters in the State of Florida. It currently has 102 beds and plans to expand to 150 beds in August of 2016. In 2014-2015, Harbor House provided shelter to more than 1,900 men, women, and children for a total of 42,300 bed nights.

Sexual Orientation. In 2006, Orange County and the City of Orlando have adopted Fair Housing laws which include regulations against discrimination based on a person's sexual orientation. In 2010, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) began requiring grant applicants seeking HUD funding to comply with state and/or local anti-discrimination laws that protect lesbian, gay, bi-sexual, and transgender (LGBT) individuals.

The Discrimination Against Transgender Women Seeking Access to Homeless Shelters study, published in January 2016 by the Equal Rights Center, concluded that only 30% of shelters surveyed were willing to properly accommodate transgender women by properly housing them with other women (the Study did not include the State of Florida). Also, shelters in states with LGBT protections were twice as likely to house transgender women as states without LGBT protections. Women's shelters were more likely to be willing to house transgender women than mixed-gender shelters. Another study conducted by the Housing Research and Advocacy Center also concluded that members of the LGBT community are 35% more likely to experience housing discrimination, with same-sex female couples more likely to experience differential treatment than same-sex male couples. Both studies highlight the need for additional fair housing education and training, especially among providers of housing and agencies that shelter homeless population, as well as among members of the LGBT community.

Persons with HIV/AIDS: Over one million Americans are now HIV positive. Data from the Florida Department of Health indicates that, for the period of 2012-2014, Orange County had 723 registered cases of AIDS, compare to the total of 8,189 cases in the State of Florida for the same reporting period. The rate of AIDS cases per 100,000 residents in both, Orange County and the State of Florida continues to decline.

Public funding available to support Persons Living with AIDS/HIV is distributed among three grant programs, including Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA). The City of Orlando is the HOPWA program Formula Grantee for the Orlando Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area (EMSA), which encompasses Orange, Osceola, Lake and Seminole Counties. HOPWA funds may be used for a wide range of housing, social services, and program planning and development costs. These include, but are not limited to, the acquisition, rehabilitation or new construction of housing units; costs for facility operations; rental assistance; and short-term payments to prevent homelessness. HOPWA funds may also be used for health care and mental health services, chemical dependency treatment, nutritional services, case management, assistance with daily living, and other supportive services.

A broad range of services for persons living with HIV/AIDS, such as medical care, case management, pharmaceuticals, mental health, and other supportive services, are financed through the federal Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program. The City of Orlando, as a recipient of the FY 2015 Ryan White Part A Grant award, received $9,356,965. The funding is primarily allocated to direct health and supportive services within the Orlando EMSA.

Central Florida also receives funding through the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Part B program. The Heart of Florida United Way is the lead agency for program implementation, and it receives more than $2.2 million from the Florida Department of Health to fund patient care and support provided through a network of eight AIDS organizations and more than 200 service providers. Program dollars are targeted for underserved groups, such as people who may be uninsured or unable to pay for expensive HIV/AIDS treatments. Services being provided include medical care, case management, pharmaceutical assistance, transportation, mental health services, home health care, food baskets and more. The Central Florida AIDS Planning (CFAP) Consortium, composed of individuals from Brevard, Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties, assesses and prioritizes the needs of the HIV/AIDS community in the East Central Florida region. The Consortium makes recommendations to the Heart of Florida United Way on Ryan White Part B federal funding.

Large Families: Large families are also a group that has traditionally been identified as a group with housing affordability challenges. Large families are defined as families with five or more family members living together. Approximately 63.8% of Orange County's households are families, and 29.3% are families with children under 18 years of age. While only 13.5% of all families live below the poverty level, 20.7% of families with children under 18 years of age live below the poverty level. Additionally, while almost 61% of the County's overall housing stock is three bedrooms or more, the majority of large housing units are owner occupied. Large low-income families, who are more likely to rent than own their homes, often experience difficulty in finding suitable living arrangements since less than 15% of the of the County's total rental units are three bedrooms or more. Furthermore, the average 2016 rate for a 3-bedroom apartment in Orange County is $1,332, which is not an affordable rate for many families.

- According to the Florida Department of Revenue, the average sales price of a single-family home in Orange County in 2014 was $266,377, while the median sales price was $207,000 (compared to a statewide median sales price of $185,000).
- More than 60% of households that rent are currently cost-burdened. Of all households with extremely low income ($20,000 or less), 14.7% are cost-burdened, with 21.7% of extremely low income renters paying 30% or more in their housing costs. 14% of low income ($20,000 to $34,999) households are cost burdened, with 20.8% of low-income renters paying 30% or more in housing costs.
- The number of elderly households is projected to increase and, at the same time, the number of cost burdened elderly households that rent will also continue to increase. Therefore, there will be an increased need for both preservation and construction of additional affordable housing units for this population.
- There is a need for additional fair housing education and training (including discrimination based on a person's sexual orientation), especially among providers of housing and agencies that shelter homeless population.
- Large low-income families, who are more likely to rent than own their homes, often experience difficulty in finding suitable living arrangements since only a small percentage of the County's total rental units are three bedrooms or more.

III. Identification of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice

A. Public Sector

Affordable Housing – Programs Available

One of the most critical issues identified by the analysis of demographic, income, housing, and employment data for Orange County, as well as during the Fair Housing Focus Group meeting, was an insufficient supply of affordable housing units. Based on the housing information presented in the previous section of this Analysis, more than 47% of Orange County households are cost burdened, paying 30-50% of their income for housing, or severely cost burdened, paying 50% or more of their income for housing costs. The majority of severely cost burdened households are renters.

Provision of affordable, sustainable, and decent housing is one of the goals of the 2016-2020 Orange County Consolidated Plan. This goal is accomplished through rental and homeownership strategies under the CDBG, HOME and NSP programs. Orange County has also developed a Local Housing Assistance plan for the purpose of formulating and implementing policies and programs that meet the housing needs of very low, low and moderate income households. There are several programs in place to encourage stabilization of low income neighborhoods and assist low- to moderate income households with finding an affordable rental unit or purchasing an affordable home. These programs are summarized below.

- Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP): The Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) was created by the Housing and Economic Recovery Act of 2008 to respond to rising residential foreclosures and property abandonment. The main purpose of the NSP is to stabilize neighborhoods negatively impacted by foreclosures; therefore, it focuses on the neighborhoods that were hit the hardest by the foreclosure crisis. In Orange County, five geographical areas were selected to participate in the NSP-1 and NSP-3 programs for home purchase and mortgage assistance: Pine Hills, Azalea Park, Union Park, Holden Heights/Oak Ridge and Meadow Woods. The County uses NSP funds to acquire, renovate, and sell foreclosed homes at affordable prices to eligible families.

In Fiscal Year 2014-2015, Orange County sold 32 NSP homes, and it continues rehabilitation on additional 20 homes. 3 NSP homes are currently listed for sale.

The City of Orlando's NSP-1 and NSP-3 programs are also for home acquisition, rehabilitation, resale and rental to low- to moderate income households. The programs are implemented in the following geographic areas: Southwest Orlando, Rosemont, and East Orlando. The City partnered with three non-profit organizations to implement the programs.

- Down Payment Assistance Programs: Low to moderate income families can participate in local down payment assistance programs in the City of Orlando and Orange County. The City of Orlando provides up to $15,000, while Orange County provides up to $30,000, depending on the funding source and household income. Down payment programs require participating homebuyers to attend homebuyer education classes where they learn about homeownership issues, including those related to housing discrimination. Down payment assistance is mostly provided using the HOME Investment Partnership Program and State Housing Initiatives Partnership Program (SHIP) funds.

In FY 2014-2015, the SHIP program assisted a total of 149 households, each below 80% of the area's median income, with down payment assistance. Of those households, 19 were very low income, 57 were low income, and 73 were moderate income households.

- Rental Subsidies and Rental Assistance: The County's Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program administers rental housing subsidies for low income households. By the end of Fiscal Year 2014-2015, rental subsidies were provided to approximately 1,198 households; additionally, 40 veterans received assistance under the Veterans Administration Supportive Housing (VASH) program.

Another rental assistance program administered by Orange County is the Shelter Plus Care (SPC) program through the Family Services Department. This program provides rental subsidies for chronic homeless individuals with severe disabilities, and it assists on average 90 clients.

The Tenant Based Rental Assistance, funded under the HOME Program, is also an important component of the County's affordable housing strategies. This activity is targeted for very low income persons with disabilities or seniors. The program provided rent subsidies to an average of 204 households during Fiscal year 2014-2015. The number of households varies based on the number of active leases.

- Housing Rehabilitation: To help residents stay in homes they already own, City and County housing rehabilitation programs offer minor repairs, emergency repairs or major rehabilitation services to qualified homeowners. The property must be deteriorating or have minor or major code violations. In addition, Orange County Health and Family Services Division operates a weatherization program funded by the State of Florida to help reduce high utility costs for low-income families. Qualified homes are inspected and low cost repairs are made to ensure energy efficiency. These repairs include weather-stripping, caulking, replacing windows, doors, heating/cooling units and other minor repairs. These services are provided through the use of HOME Investment Partnership program funds. The services are available to residents who meet income guidelines and eligibility requirements regardless of their race, color, national origin, religion, sex, familial status, and disability.

In Fiscal Year 2014-2015, Orange County housing rehabilitation services funded under CDBG included 154 units (91 completed and 63 under rehabilitation) by Orange County's housing rehabilitation program, and 57 homes completed by Seniors First, Inc. (funded through CDBG). Additionally, homeowners' housing rehabilitation activities funded by the HOME program included 17 completed homes for very-low and extremely-low income homeowners, with over 40 rehabilitation homes currently underway. Another 7 very low income homeowners received rehabilitation assistance through the SHIP program. Furthermore, 52 homes for persons with disabilities received assistance with minor repairs through the Center for Independent Living, Inc. Housing rehabilitation services were provided to facilities serving special populations. Orange County's weatherization Program, funded through the State of Florida, assisted additional 59 units.

Orange County also utilizes HOME funds for the rehabilitation of affordable rental units. In October 2013, HOME funds from Fiscal Year 2011-2012, along with SHIP and private financing, were designated to acquire and rehabilitate 48 affordable rental units. The apartments were renovated utilizing energy efficient standards. The project was completed in May 2015.

The City of Orlando also administers the Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA) Program. Program funds are used to provide short-term rent, mortgage and utility assistance, tenant-based rental assistance, permanent housing placement, facility-based operations, and supportive services.

- Homeless Prevention and Rapid Re-Housing: Both the City of Orlando and Orange County administer an Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) Program to fund homeless activities, including prevention and re-housing. Homeless prevention activities are designed to provide relocation and stabilization services and rental assistance for families at risk of homelessness; rapid re-housing activities aim at quickly moving homeless people to permanent housing. The total number of Orange County clients assisted in Fiscal Year 2014-2015 was 202 households for homeless prevention and 122 households for rapid re-housing.
- Affordable Multi-Family Housing. Recognizing that there is a shortage of affordable housing for low and very low-income households in Orange County, the County plans to start tackling the growing affordable housing problem by allotting $5 million through the INVEST in Our Home for Life program. The County will provide incentives to encourage development of affordable housing and require some of those units be set-aside for homeless families ready to enter the housing market. The goal will be to accelerate the production of affordable rental housing in Orange County and increase access to such housing for families in need. Several projects that plan to use INVEST funds are currently underway and will result in creation of an additional 147 affordable rental units.

Affordable Housing – Regulatory Barriers

Review of the Orange County's policies and standards reveals that a number of comprehensive plan policies that promote affordable housing and workforce housing are already in place, but are rarely being used. Several policies in the Future Land Use Element and Housing Element of the County' Comprehensive Plan provide density and intensity bonuses for construction of affordable or workforce housing units. Other policies encourage public private partnerships, creation of a community land trust, or a linkage fee to help subsidize development of affordable housing units. Additional incentives suggested in the policies include impact fee credits and subsidies for affordable and workforce units, as well as expedited permitting. Some of these suggested incentives have been codified.

Currently, Orange County offers impact fee subsidies to affordable housing projects. Additionally, both the County and the City of Orlando have set up an expedited process for regulatory review of affordable housing development proposals. The process may reduce by 60 or more days the combined length of development review time required by the various divisions involved, such as the Board of Zoning Adjustments (BZA), Planning and Zoning Commissions, and the Development Review Committee (DRC). Development applications that are certified as affordable housing projects are entitled to review in the expedited manner.

The City of Orlando also offers impact fee grants, density bonuses, and alternative design standards to developers of affordable housing; however, developers have generally not taken advantage of these incentives.

Based on this review, it seems necessary to evaluate existing affordable housing incentives to assess their effectiveness and to look for additional incentives that will be more appealing to the affordable housing developers in the changed market conditions.

Public Transportation

The issues of access to public transportation, as well as transportation in general, have come up multiple times during the County's Focus Group discussions. Transportation is seen as a major impediment to housing choice, housing affordability, and betterment of low income communities and their residents. The cost of public transportation, its reliability and timeliness, as well as its availability have a profound effect on an overall ability of low income persons who lack a personal vehicle to get to work or obtain better jobs.

The Census data indicates that it takes County residents, on average, close to half an hour to get to work. Most residents (79%) commute by car alone, with less than 3% of workers using public transportation. In May of 2014, the SunRail commuter rail became operational. SunRail connected three counties – Volusia, Seminole, and Orange – in its Phase I. Phase II will become operational in the next couple of years, and it will provide an additional connection to Osceola County.

While SunRail connects residents to some of the major employment centers (Downtown Orlando, Florida Hospital, and Orlando Health) and increases public transportation options in the County and the region, it may have certain limitations. First, the cost of using SunRail, even with the purchase of a monthly pass, may not be feasible for some low income and extremely low income families. As a result, additional employer subsidies for transportation might be necessary to compensate employees in need of assistance with their transportation costs. Second, for those residents who do not work near SunRail stations, the secondary connections, such as a LYNX bus, might not be available to actually get them to their final destination. Therefore, the overall public transportation system in Orange County needs to be improved to truly affect transportation and employment access in a meaningful way. Finally, locating affordable housing units near, or in close proximity to the transit stations might be another option, which is also known as transit-oriented development.

The Fair Housing and Equity Assessment (2015) conducted by the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council under the HUD's Sustaining Communities Regional Planning Grant recommended considering the cost of transportation in tandem with housing costs when determining whether a household is cost burdened. The assessment also included maps of racially and ethnically concentrated areas of poverty near SunRail stations.

Another study, Affordable Housing Study: The Housing Suitability Model, prepared by the Shimberg Center for Housing Studies at the University of Florida, analyzed the location suitability and demand for affordable housing around the twelve stations of the first phase of the SunRail commuter rail system in the Central Florida region. In addition to the analysis of housing suitability, the Shimberg Center also assessed the demand for housing by low-moderate income households, or workforce housing. Both, suitability and demand, were analyzed for the SunRail station areas, as well as for twenty different clusters of assisted multi-family properties located across the region, and are available for review. The analysis also provided strategies to lessen the household cost burden and included recommendations that stressed the need for preserving existing affordable housing units, and the importance of developing additional affordable housing units around the SunRail stations.

Public Housing

There are two public housing authorities operating within the County boundary – Orlando Housing Authority (OHA) and the Winter Park Housing Authority (WPHA).

The OHA operates a total of 1,496 housing units in 14 apartment complexes, 86% of which are located within the City of Orlando (11 apartment complexes). Of 1,496 units, 74 units are accessible. In terms of the racial composition, the OHA residents are predominantly White and African American. A large percentage are Hispanics. The majority of program participants are either elderly or disabled families. As of April 2016, there were 21,947 families of the OHA's public housing pre-application waiting list. Of this number, 3,058 indicated that they or a member of their family is a person with a disability that needs an accessible unit. The OHA also runs the housing choice voucher program that has 19,073 families on the pre-application waiting list, with 1,984 of them indicating a need for an accessible unit.

The WPHA owns and operates 171 units of public housing located at two sites. 52 of the units are designated for elderly/disabled. The majority of the residents of these two apartment complexes are African American, with less than 20% of residents being Hispanic. In addition to public housing, the WPHA also owns 536 units in four complexes, with one complex being located in unincorporated Orange County. Due to the difference in the application process, the WPHA does not become aware of the need for an accessible unit until later in the process. In general, the WPHA indicated that fully accessible units are rarely requested, while certain accessibility modifications are requested more frequently.

Overall, two public housing authorities provide significant accommodations to elderly households and persons with disabilities. However, the overall supply of affordable units available through these entities is not sufficient to meet the demand for affordable housing in Orange County.

Areas of Minority and Low Income Concentrations

Orange County continues to experience concentrations of minority and low income populations throughout the County area. According to the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council 2015 data, the areas identified in the following Table are areas with the lowest income levels (20% of Census Tract population or more live below the poverty line) and high minority concentration (50% or more of the Census Tract population) in Orange County.

There are many public-supported housing projects within Orange County (Low Income Housing Tax Credit – LIHTC), which are located throughout the County, but clusters of them exist in West Orlando (Pine Hills, Holden Heights, Town of Eatonville), along East Colonial Drive and Semoran Boulevard, and near the Orlando International Airport. Overall, these projects are well distributed within the County boundary. Figure 5 below shows locations of LIHTC projects, public housing, and Section 8 projects.

Accessibility

Analysis of Census data for Orange County indicates that approximately 10% of the County residents, or 117,427 individuals, have one or more disability. The age group of 65 years and over is the most affected, with more than 35% of this population living with a disability. Often those with disabilities require special housing accommodations, such as handrails, ramps, and wider doorways, among others. Additionally, some of the elderly population without disabilities may benefit from such improvements as well. Orange County utilizes the Florida Building Code, which provides ADA specifications (improvements required by the Americans with Disabilities Act) for all new construction and qualified redevelopment or residential and non-residential properties. Furthermore, the County regularly uses CDBG program funds designated for capital improvements and housing activities to fund ADA improvements to qualified facilities.

Planning and Zoning Boards

In Orange County, land development approvals for land use and zoning changes, as well as master planned communities, are heard by the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC), which also serves as the Local Planning Agency (LPA), while variances and special exemptions are heard by the Board of Zoning Adjustments (BZA). Final approvals/denials of land use decisions are made by the Board of County Commissioners composed of representatives of six commission districts and the County Mayor.

To ensure that land use decisions do not encourage discriminatory practices, or add to existing segregation patterns, or contribute to concentrated areas of poverty, it is necessary to constantly educate members of these boards on fair housing laws and any new fair housing issues that might be emerging in the future. Continuous education and training process is essential due to the fact that members of the boards are term limited, and new members need to be kept informed of the Fair Housing Laws and associated requirements.

B. Private Sector

Lending Policies and Practices

Studies such as A House Divided: How Race Colors the Path to Homeownership (by Zillow, 2014) and Discriminatory Effects of Credit Scoring on Communities of Color (by National Fair Housing Alliance, 2012), as well as the data from the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMDA), have shown the difference between race and homeownership. (Home Mortgage Disclosure Act data is summarized in Appendix I.) The national data shows that Whites have a 73.4% share of successful mortgage applications compare to minority populations. This data takes many different factors, such as education level, income, and credit score, into account. Although all the factors have a correlation with minorities and the lack of homeownership accessibility, the discriminatory lending practices also play a role in preventing minorities from becoming homeowners.

Orange County's demographic composition is 69% White, 22% Black/African American, 6% Asian, and 6% some other race; 29% the County's population are Hispanics. The home loan approval gap between Whites and minorities, especially Hispanics and African Americans, is alarming. Because of this, minorities such as Hispanics and African Americans tend to rent instead of buying. The Census data for Orange County confirm that African American and Hispanic households, especially those with low incomes, are more likely to rent than own.

During the County's Fair Housing focus group meeting, the discussion topics pertaining to lending institutions were: 1) the amount of discrimination towards minorities applying for home loans, and 2) the lack of fair housing education by lending organizations. Focus group participants mentioned that lending rules needed to be reviewed and made less difficult in order to help more individuals get approved for home loans. Additional topics of discussion were the new lending standards and how they exclude minorities because of the 10-20% down payment and higher credit score requirements. While low-income households have access to down payment assistance programs in both, Orange County and the City of Orlando, they may not necessarily be able to find a house they can purchase due to the lack of affordable housing.

Additional issue that is currently emerging is private investors purchasing single-family housing units in existing subdivisions in bulks and renting them out. This particular practice results in the high renter turnover in established neighborhoods, as well as deterioration of such neighborhoods due to lack of interests from renters in neighborhood involvement and community investment.

C. Public and Private Sector Fair Housing Enforcement

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has as its mission to promote non-discrimination and ensure fair and equal housing opportunities for all. In an ongoing effort to provide services and activities in a nondiscriminatory manner and to affirmatively further fair housing, HUD is charged by law to implement and enforce a wide array of civil rights laws, not only for members of the public in search of fair housing, but for HUD funded grant recipients as well. HUD is also charged with ensuring the successful operation of specific enforcement activities relating to housing programs. The array of laws, executive orders, and regulations are collectively known as civil rights requirements and called "Civil Rights Related Program Requirements (CRRPRs)."

HUD-funded grant recipients are obligated under various laws not to discriminate in housing or services, directly or indirectly, on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, familial status, or disability. HUD rules further require that recipients of Federal financial assistance comply with civil rights-related program requirements that affect nearly every aspect of each program. HUD's non-discrimination requirements are compiled from several different federal laws designed to protect each individual's right to fair housing and equal opportunity.

A strong commitment to affirmatively further fair housing is not only one of the Department of HUD's guiding principles; it is a requirement for participating in HUD's many housing and community development programs. The Fair Housing Act specifies that the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development shall administer programs and activities relating to housing and urban development in a manner that affirmatively furthers the policies outlined in Section 808 (e) 5.

Orange County Housing and Community Development Division partners with several local agencies in order to carry out the Fair Housing Laws mandates. In addition to being a continuous sponsor of the annual Fair Housing Summit that takes place in April, the County staff encourages fair housing education and training by providing its subrecipient agencies with fair housing training opportunities. However, it is necessary to expand such opportunities to regularly educate housing providers and financial institutions about current fair housing laws and any new and emerging fair housing issues.

The following agencies are responsible for Fair Housing monitoring and enforcement activities in Orange County.

Community Legal Services of Mid-Florida (CLSMF) is a HUD funded non-profit organization offering services related to fair housing, landlord/tenant issues, foreclosures, housing code violations, repair contracts, public housing, Section 8 and affordable housing. CLSMF's HUD funded Fair Housing Project promotes equal opportunity in housing for all persons through education, investigation, and enforcement. Services are available free to any person who experiences discrimination in Citrus, Flagler, Hernando, Lake, Marion, Orange, Putnam or Sumter Counties, regardless of income. Educational presentations are available to employees, churches, temples, synagogues or community groups. The organization can supply pamphlets for distribution. Brochures are available in English, Spanish and Vietnamese.

The Continuum focuses on a variety of fair housing issues, including those concerning persons with disabilities and immigrant populations. The organization provides fair housing enforcement and conducts education and outreach.

The Continuum also recruits and trains testers, as well as completes systemic and/or complaint-based tests. As a significant force in fair housing awareness, it conducts the annual Fair Housing Month activities and carries out media campaigns. City of Orlando Office of Community Affairs and Human Relations conducts education and outreach in order to increase citizens' awareness of their rights and the remedies available to them under existing discrimination laws. The Office of Community Affairs and Human Relations is also charged with enforcing federal, state and local fair housing laws. The Office staff consistently engages in at least one educational outreach activity per month throughout Central Florida by disseminating brochures, facilitating/conducting workshops, and staffing/participating at local events. The Office also provides fair housing counseling and information to the general public by phone, walk-ins, and via email.

The Office of Community Affairs and Human Relations is a contractual agent of both the US Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the US Department of HUD. In this dual role, it is responsible for the investigation and resolution of discrimination charges in public accommodations, employment and housing. Informational Programs

Orange County staff participated in the planning and implementation of four (4) workshops to provide guidance and information to new families relocating to Orange County. These workshops were conducted in partnership with the Orange County Library System, Career Source and other nonprofit organizations. The workshops included affordable housing information, fraud prevention, landlord/tenant education and fair housing information. Fair housing brochures were also distributed to over 200 total attendees. Fair housing posters are displayed in the County offices and distributed to subrecipients of federal funds.

Additionally, Orange County staff was invited to speak on affordable housing and fair housing topics every quarter at a local Spanish Radio Show called “Malula con la Comunidad” aired weekly on 1440 AM. Other speaking engagements included local churches and neighborhood groups in Pine Hills, Holden Heights and South Apopka communities. Fair housing information was exchanged at these meetings and events. Staff plans to continue participating in outreach events to educate Orange County residents on fair housing issues affecting our community.

Orange County is also one of the main sponsors and organizers of the annual Fair Housing Summit. The event provides fair housing trainings for housing and community professionals. The County staff, from Department Managers to housing assistance personnel, attends workshops covering a variety of fair housing topics.

The 2016 Fair Housing Summit that took place on April 28, 2016, during Fair Housing Month, attracted more than 300 real estate practitioners, government officials, and neighborhood leaders from the Central Florida region. In an effort to broaden its fair housing outreach activities and provide its subrecipients with an overview of the fair housing laws and requirements, Orange County extended an invitation to participate in the summit to ten (10) of the subrecipient agencies involved in provision of housing and housing finance and counseling. The County offered to cover registration cost for up to two members of each organization. Of ten agencies invited, four agencies registered to attend the summit.

Fair Housing Complaints

- City of Orlando: Since 2011, there have been 76 Fair Housing complaints filed under Chapter 57 of the City Code and Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act. Of those 76 complaints, 36 cases (close to 50%) were for disability discrimination; 16 cases (21%) for race; 11 cases (14%) for national origin; eight cases for retaliation; four cases due to familial status; and one case for sex. IV. Assessment of Fair Housing Programs and Activities

This section will summarize activities Orange County undertakes to provide housing and services to low- to moderate income populations and populations with special needs. It will also provide an overview of activities that were recommended in the 2011-2016 Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice and review progress of each of the recommended activities.

Housing Activities

According to the recently released “Make Room” report by Enterprise Community Partners, Florida has the largest share of renters – 31 percent – who spend more than half of their income on housing. However, Florida also has one of the best models for funding and producing affordable housing in the nation. The State Housing Initiatives Partnership (SHIP) is a local housing trust fund with a proven track record. Orange County is among the 67 counties benefiting from the program. SHIP is the main source of funding for affordable housing in Orange County, with a funding allocation that fluctuates between $4M and $5M annually.

The County’s Consolidated Plan goal related to affordable housing includes homeownership and rental housing strategies, both of which are specifically targeted for low- to moderate income households. The NSP and SHIP programs are currently the primary funding source for expanding homeownership opportunities for low- to moderate income households through down payment assistance, acquisition and resale of foreclosed homes and other financial incentives in Orange County.

The HOME and SHIP programs also provide for affordable rental housing activities that include funding for community housing development organizations, tenant based rental assistance, funding for rental housing development and housing rehabilitation for low income homeowners. These efforts have mainly benefitted vulnerable populations such as seniors, disabled, homeless, and extremely low- and very-low income households with urgent housing needs.

Another example of leverage is the State of Florida weatherization program which assists senior homeowners by providing energy efficiency upgrades and minor repairs on their homes. During FY 2014-2015, there were 59 households assisted with weatherization services.

Housing activities for extremely low- to low income renters are primarily based on providing subsidized housing. These activities are the Housing Choice Voucher program, the Tenant Based Rental Assistance (TBRA) program and the Shelter Plus Care (SPC) program. The Housing Choice Voucher Program has a different fiscal year, beginning on January 1, and ending on December 31 of each year. The Section 8 Voucher Program reported 1,198 housing vouchers (rental subsidies) during FY 2014-2015. An additional 204 households were served with TBRA. The Shelter Plus Care program provided rental assistance to an average of 90 chronically homeless persons in Orange County.

Other affordable rental activities include the utilization of HOME federal resources for rental rehabilitation projects. In FY 2014-2015, Orange County completed Dean Woods, a 95-unit affordable housing multifamily development with 24 HOME set-aside units.

Table 27: Orange County FY 2014-2015: Rental Housing Activities

Activity	Extremely Low Income (30% AMI)	Very Low Income (30-50% AMI)	Low Income (over 50% AMI)	Accomplishments

Total	951	479	86	1,516

Since the inception of the CDBG program, it has been Orange County’s policy that all CDBG activities are targeted for households earning up to 80% of AMI (Low Income Households). However, some activities are designated to serve those households in most need. One example is the Homeowners’ rehabilitation assistance program which provides housing repairs to seniors, disabled and families earning up to 50% of the AMI.

The Orange County Housing Rehabilitation Program uses a variety of funding sources that includes CDBG, SHIP, HOME, and the State of Florida’s Weatherization Grant funds. CDBG funds the administration of the Program to implement rehabilitation services that include minor repairs, emergency repairs, substantial repairs, weatherization and sewer/water connections. During FY 2014-2015, a total of 345 homeowner households received rehabilitation services through all funding sources.

Homeownership activities allow benefits to households in the moderate income range. Homeownership programs are primarily funded by the State funded SHIP program and the NSP program. The SHIP program provided financial assistance to assist 149 households with down payment assistance. Additionally, the SHIP program provided funds to counsel 2,351 individuals with pre-purchase counseling. Table 28 below describes the assistance provided using federal and local funds.

In terms of providing assistance to homeless population, during the FY 2014-2015 Orange County continued to provide funding for homeless prevention activities through the Heart of Florida United Way. Homeless prevention consists of rental financial assistance, case management and related services to households with incomes no greater than 30% AMI, who are at risk of homelessness. These organizations assisted in stabilizing 202 individuals in Orange County who were at risk of homelessness and an additional 122 who were homeless and in need of re-housing. A total of 1,047 homeless individuals were assisted.

The Shelter Plus Care program provided rental assistance to an average cumulative number of 90 chronically homeless persons with either mental illness, substance abuse, and/or both. CDBG also provided funding to pay for case management for Shelter Care Plus clients through public service funding to the Homeless Services Network.

Public Service Activities

Orange County has a good track record in serving special populations. Federal programs such as CDBG and HOME have a history of serving the special needs populations. Due to the fact that people with disabilities are considered to be the segment of the population with highest unemployment rates, CDBG funding is instrumental in providing job training and job placement through various agencies. These efforts provide employability and independent living skills to persons with physical and mental disabilities and visual impairment in Orange County. Last year, 189 persons with disabilities were assisted and 149 of them received job training.

Additionally, CDBG funds Seniors First Meals on Wheels to deliver meals to homebound elderly with disabilities.

Table 29 states the number of disabled clients served, the total dollar amount spent during FY 2014-2015, and the source of federal funding allocated.

Capital Improvement Projects (CIPs) typically serve block groups, which also tend to have multiple racial categories and are not included in the table.

Overview of Previously Recommended Strategies

The 2011-2016 Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice identified a number of public sector and private sector fair housing impediments and outlined recommended actions to overcome them. The City of Orlando Office of Community Affairs-Human Relations was pursuing two (2) major impediments to fair housing: improving the agency’s reporting timeliness and addressing the lack of public awareness and education concerning fair housing rights. To address these two major impediments, in addition to impediments identified by the jurisdictions, the Analysis proposed a Plan of Action with four goals stated below, outlined recommended actions for each of the goals, identified a responsible party for carrying out those actions, and determined a time period for completion.

- Goal 1: Promote collaborations with local governments, fair housing agencies, advocacy groups and the housing industry to eliminate barriers to fair housing choice
- Goal 2: Monitor court cases, complaints and current trends pertaining to fair housing laws
- Goal 3: Increase public awareness and education concerning fair housing rights
- Goal 4: Provide training and technical assistance to advocacy groups, housing providers and others in the housing industry

Table 31 summarizes progress of each of the recommended actions.

V. Conclusions and Recommendations

The 2016-2020 Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice involved a review of the research literature on affordable housing supply and demand, discriminatory lending and housing practices, and importance of transportation to housing affordability. Quantitative data on the Orange County demographic and income composition, housing, and employment were collected to provide the basis for the identification of fair housing challenges. In addition, qualitative data from the Fair Housing Focus Group were analyzed and included in the summary of impediments. All impediments were divided into public, private, and both.

Of all impediments identified, increasing public awareness and education concerning fair housing rights remains the top priority. Furthermore, expanding fair housing education to include emerging issues and topics is also essential. The following actions are recommended to address the identified impediments:

1. Continue to support and fund affordable housing projects, including those that serve disabled populations, the elderly, and families with children.
2. Continue to promote Fair Housing Month in order to raise awareness about housing discrimination in the community.
3. Conduct fair housing testing in the local housing industry on a regular basis.
4. Expand fair housing training to include public officials, property management companies, future first-time home buyers, and Section 8 residents.
5. Simplify access to information about fair housing and affordable housing projects for those looking to rent or buy.
6. Develop new fair housing outreach materials that include any new or evolving issues of concern related to fair housing practices, as well as emerging housing issues.
7. Expand fair housing outreach efforts to include hard-to-reach populations and Non-English speakers.
8. Work closely with consumer advocacy groups to raise awareness about housing scams and predatory housing and lending practices.

Further review of identified impediments and assessment of progress on the recommended actions will be done annually, as part of the Consolidated Annual Performance and Evaluation Report (CAPER), which is submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development on December 31st of each year.

VII. Appendixes

A. Fair Housing Focus Group Meeting

A number of private entities involved in provision of housing to low-to moderate income persons and housing finance were invited to participate in the Fair Housing Focus Group meeting conducted on February 18, 2016. The purpose of this meeting was to facilitate communication among fair housing advocacy groups, non-profit organizations and jurisdictions, to obtain input for this document, and to discuss and prioritize actions that should be taken to address needs of underserved areas, foster and maintain affordable housing, reduce the number of poverty-level families, and enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies. The meeting was hosted by the Orlando Housing Authority.

The Focus Group meeting discussion was structured around five primary topics: 1) each organization's knowledge of Fair Housing policies and their implementation; 2) housing affordability and its effect on the community; 3) lending practices in minority neighborhoods; 4) housing market characteristics in areas of racial/ethnic minority concentration and ways to improve them; and 5) actions that should be taken to address needs of underserved areas, foster and maintain affordable housing, reduce the number of poverty-level families, and enhance coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies. A summary of discussion points for each of the five primary topics is presented below.

1. Is your organization's staff fully trained in Fair Housing policies? How are they followed?

- Staff mostly trained
- Departments dealing with fair housing are trained; organizations as a whole are not
- Property managers are adequately trained
- One issue is not having enough training for realtors other than training to pass the exams
- Clients and social agency's staff needs more training
- Community needs more fair housing education
- More education of the law and penalty enforcement if law is not followed
- Fair housing authorities should embed training across all sectors/communities

2. How is affordability of housing likely to change considering changes to home values and/or rents? And how will they affect our community?

- Affordability is likely to worsen rather than get better due to population increase, affordable housing shortage, and low wages
- SHIP funding
- Rental occupancy levels are high
- Lack of housing leads to more selective qualification criteria
- Housing options are very limited with long waiting lists
- Generational renters seem to be at an all-time high (trends towards rental housing vs. homeownership)
- Workforce housing should be introduced again (create awareness of housing instability among low paid workers)
- Enforcing federal, state/local ordinances that preserve land for affordable development.
- Post purchase education
- HUDs regulations for felons, etc.
- Low inventory of affordable housing
- Lending rules need to be softened
- More smaller units need to be provided

3. How do you perceive lending institutions marketing the availability of mortgage and home improvement loans in minority neighborhoods and encouraging protected classes to apply (defined as race, ethnicity, national origin, disability, sex, familial status, marital status)?

- No known cases among group of discrimination but other concerns and limitations; e.g.: qualifications SHIP; qualifying for down payment assistance does not necessarily mean you will be able to actually find a home you can purchase
- New lending standard have disproportionately excluded many minorities from the market (10% - 20% down payment, higher credit requirements)
- Personal finance education needed
- HMDA data on bank loans to protect classes
- Better but only due to CRA (Community Rating Act)
- Lenders bear all the risk of “riskier” loans (no government backup)

4. What do you believe are the characteristics of the housing market in areas of racial/ethnic minority concentration? What can be done to improve housing conditions in these areas?

- Rehabs are needed. Housing units in some areas don't have water, heating, etc., but are next to high-income neighborhoods, which affects income levels in census tracts
- Extended use of contractors and possible use of vouchers by home owners (for some type of work) would help
- Treat all neighborhoods equally and provide basic infrastructure; work on breaking stereotypes and language barriers (e. g. homeownership classes)
- Improvements needed
- Access to recreation areas/sidewalks
- More internet access—classes/libraries
- Create outreach programs targeting new immigrants—basic skills—tools to integrate them
- No healthy growth to economic development
- Educate buyers on how to be a home owner and taking care of their property
- Create tax credits

5. Discuss and prioritize actions that should be taken into consideration to address the following needs:

A. Addressing the social needs of underserved areas (underserved areas, according to HUD, are those which are distressed, lack economic opportunities, or are low-income areas)

B. Fostering and maintaining affordable housing

C. Reducing the number of poverty-level families

D. Enhancing coordination between public and private housing and social service agencies

- Foster development of CD corporation (nonprofit CDC's)
- After school care
- Education and awareness about programs
- Drop-in centers
- Target education, job training
- Support public/private partnerships
- Reducing number of those below the poverty level
- Coordinated, multi-faceted approach

- Improve quality of housing and mixed income
- Attracting more businesses into low income areas
- Social agencies must expand their boundaries—reach out to create new alliances
- Reduce the lack of parks/green spaces
- Public transportation: expensive or not direct at times; outside of city
- Some populations need supportive services along with affordable housing

The Consolidated Plan also identifies a number of objectives and associated activities for each of the three goals.

The Action Plan is the annual operating plan designed to identify specific activities that Orange County intends to pursue through the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), HOME Investment Partnerships, Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG), and other state and local housing and community development programs, to address the objectives identified in the Consolidated Plan. The Action Plan will cover the period starting October 1, 2016 through September 30, 2017. (5) State agencies with building construction regulation responsibility or local governments, as appropriate, shall review plans and specifications for the construction of covered multifamily dwellings to determine consistency with the requirements of subsection (1).

(Ord. No. 2010-15, § 5, 11-23-10)

Sec. 22-55. - Exemptions.

(a) Single-family and multifamily dwellings.

(1) Nothing in this article applies to:

a. Any single-family house sold or rented by its owner, provided such private individual owner does not own more than three (3) single-family houses at any one (1) time. In case of the sale of a single-family house by a private individual owner who does not reside in such house at the time of the sale or who was not the most recent resident of the house prior to sale, the exemption granted by this subsection applies only with respect to one (1) sale within any 24-month period. In addition, the bona fide private individual owner shall not own any interest in, nor shall there be owned or reserved on his or her behalf, under any express or voluntary agreement, title to, or any right to all or portion of the proceeds from the sale or rental of, more than three (3) single-family houses at any one (1) time. The sale or rental of any single-family house shall be excepted from the application of this article only if the house is sold or rented:

1. Without the use in any manner of sales or rental facilities or the sales or rental services of any real estate licensee or such facilities or services of any person in the business of selling or renting dwellings, or of any employee or agent of any such licensee or person; and

2. Without the publication, posting, or mailing, after notice, of any advertisement or written notice in violation of section 22-52(c). Nothing in this provision prohibits the use of attorneys, escrow agents, abstractors, title companies and other professional assistance as is necessary to perfect or transfer the title.

b. Rooms or units in dwellings containing living quarters occupied or intended to be occupied by no more than four (4) families living independently of each other, if the owner actually maintains and occupies one (1) of such living quarters as his or her residence.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a person is deemed to be in the business of selling or renting dwellings if the person:

a. Has, within the preceding twelve (12) months, participated in three (3) or more transactions involving the sale or rental of any dwelling or interest therein;

b. Has, within the preceding twelve (12) months, participated as agent, other than in the sale of his or her own personal residence, in providing sales or rental facilities or sales or rental services in two (2) or more transactions involving the sale or rental of any dwelling or interest therein; or

c. If the owner of any dwelling designed or intended for occupancy by, or occupied by, five (5) or more families.

(b) Nothing in this article prohibits a religious organization or any nonprofit institution or organization operated, supervised, or controlled by or in conjunction with a religious organization from limiting the sale, rental, or occupancy of any dwelling which it owns or operates for other than a commercial purpose to individuals of same religion or from giving preference to such individuals, unless membership in such religion is restricted on account of race, color, or national origin.

(c) Nothing in this article prohibits a private club not in fact open to the public, which as an incident to its primary purpose or purposes provides lodgings which it owns or operates for other than a commercial activity, from limiting the rental or occupancy of such lodgings to its members or from giving preference to members,

(d) Nothing in this article requires any person renting or selling a dwelling constructed for first occupancy before March 13, 1991, to modify, alter, or adjust the dwelling in order to provide physical accessibility except as otherwise required by law.

(e) Housing for older persons.

(1) Any provision of this article regarding age or familial status does not apply with respect to housing for older persons.

(2) Nothing in this subsection is intended to limit the applicability of any reasonable local, state, or federal restrictions regarding the maximum number of occupants permitted to occupy a dwelling.

(3) As used in this subsection, the term "housing for older persons" means housing:

a. Provided under any state or federal program that is determined by state or federal rule to be specifically designed and operated to assist elderly persons, as defined in the state or federal program;

b. Intended for, and solely occupied by, persons sixty-two (62) years of age or older;

c. Intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

(4) In order for housing to qualify as being intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older in accordance with subsection (3)c., such housing must meet the following requirements:

a. The housing facility or community publishes and adheres to policies and procedures that demonstrate the intent required under this subsection. If the housing facility or community meets the requirements of subsections (5) and subsection b. and the recorded governing documents provide for an adult, senior, or retirement housing facility or community and the governing documents lack an amendatory procedure, prohibit amendments, or restrict amendments until a specified future date, then that housing facility or community shall be deemed housing for older persons intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older. If those documents further provide a prohibition against residents sixteen (16) years of age or younger, that provision be construed, for purposes of this article, to only apply to residents eighteen (18) years of age or younger, in order to conform with federal law requirements. Governing documents which can be amended at a future date must be amended and properly recorded within one (1) year after that date to reflect the requirements for consideration as housing for older persons, if that housing facility or community intends to continue as housing for older persons.

b. The housing facility or community complies with rules made by the Secretary of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to 24 C.F.R. Part 100, or as that part may be thereafter amended, for verification of occupancy, which rules provide for verification by reliable surveys and affidavits and include examples of the types of policies and procedures relevant to a determination of compliance with the requirements of subsection a. Such surveys and affidavits are admissible in administrative and judicial proceedings for the purposes of such verification.

(5) In order for housing to qualify as being intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older in accordance with subsection (3)c., at least eighty (80) percent of the occupied units shall be occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

a. For purposes of subsection (5), occupied unit means (i) a dwelling unit that is actually occupied by one (1) or more persons on the date that the exemption is claimed; or (ii) a temporarily vacant unit, if the primary occupant has resided in the unit during the past year and intends to return on a periodic basis.

b. For purposes of subsection (5), occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older means that on the date the exemption for housing designed for persons who are fifty-five (55) years of age or older is claimed (i) at least one (1) occupant of the dwelling unit is fifty-five (55) years of age or older; or (ii) if the dwelling unit is temporarily vacant, at least one (1) of the occupants immediately prior to the date on which the unit was temporarily vacated was fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

c. Newly constructed housing for first occupancy after March 12, 1989, need not comply with the requirements of subsection (5) until at least twenty-five (25) percent of the units are occupied. For purposes of this subsection c., newly constructed housing includes a facility or community that has been wholly unoccupied for at least ninety (90) days prior to reoccupancy due to renovation or rehabilitation.

d. Housing satisfies the requirements of subsection (5) even though:

1. On September 13, 1988, under eighty (80) percent of the occupied units in the housing facility or community were occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older, provided that at least eighty (80) percent of the units occupied by new occupants after September 13, 1988, are occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

2. There are unoccupied units, provided that at least eighty (80) percent of the occupied units are occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

3. There are units occupied by employees of the housing facility or community (and family members residing in the same unit) who are under fifty-five (55) years of age, provided the employees perform substantial duties related to the management or maintenance of the facility or community.

4. There are units occupied by persons who are necessary to provide a reasonable accommodation to disabled residents and who are under the age of fifty-five (55).

5. For a period expiring one (1) year from the effective date of 24 C.F.R. Part 100, Subpart E, there are insufficient units occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older, but the housing facility or community, at the time the exemption is asserted (i) has reserved all unoccupied units for occupancy by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older until at least eighty (80) percent of the units are occupied by at least one (1) person who is fifty-five (55) years of age or older; and (ii) meets the requirements of this subsection (5).

e. For purposes of the transition provision described in subsection (d)(5), a housing facility or community may not evict, refuse to renew leases, or otherwise penalize families with children who reside in the facility or community in order to achieve occupancy of at least eighty (80) percent of the occupied units by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

f. Where application of the eighty (80) percent rule results in a fraction of a unit, that unit shall be considered to be included in the units that must be occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

g. Each housing facility or community may determine the age restriction, if any, for units that are not occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older, so long as the housing facility or community complies with the provisions of subsection (6).

(6) In order for housing to qualify as being intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older in accordance with subsection (3)c., it must publish and adhere to policies and procedures that demonstrate its intent to operate as housing for persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

a. For purposes of subsection (6), the following factors, among others, are considered relevant in determining whether the housing facility or community has complied with this requirement:

1. The manner in which the housing facility or community is described to prospective residents;
2. Any advertising designed to attract prospective residents;
3. Lease provisions;
4. Written rules, regulations, covenants, deed or other restrictions;
5. The maintenance and consistent application of relevant procedures;
6. Actual practices of the housing facility or community; and
7. Public posting in common areas of statements describing the facility or community as for persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

b. Phrases such as "adult living," "adult community," or similar statements in any written advertisement or prospectus are not consistent with the intent that the housing facility or community intends to operate as housing for persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

c. If there is language in deed or other community or facility documents which is inconsistent with the intent to provide housing to persons who are fifty-five (55) years of age or older, consideration shall be given to documented evidence of a good-faith attempt to remove such language in determining whether the housing facility or community complies with the requirements of this section in conjunction with other evidence of intent.

d. A housing facility or community may allow occupancy by families with children as long as it meets the requirements of subsection (5) and subsection a.

(7) In order for housing to qualify as being intended and operated for occupancy by persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older in accordance with subsection (3)c., it must be able to produce, in response to a complaint filed under this article, verification of compliance with subsection (5) through reliable surveys and affidavits.

a. For purposes of subsection (7), a facility or community shall, within one hundred-eighty (180) days of the effective date of this rule, develop procedures for routinely determining the occupancy of each unit, including the identification of whether at least one (1) occupant of each unit is fifty-five (55) years of age or older. Such procedures may be part of a normal leasing or purchasing arrangement.

b. The procedures described in subsection a. must provide for regular updates, through surveys or other means, of the initial information supplied by the occupants of the housing facility or community. Such updates must take place at least once every two (2) years. A survey may include information regarding whether any units are occupied by persons described in subsections (5)d.1., (5)d.3., and (5)d.4.

c. Any of the following documents are considered reliable documentation of the age of the occupants of the housing facility or community:

1. Driver's license;
2. Birth certificate;
3. Passport;
4. Immigration card;
5. Military identification;
6. Any other state, local, national, or international official documents containing a birth date of comparable reliability; or
7. A certification in a lease, application, affidavit, or other document signed by any member of the household age eighteen (18) or older asserting that at least one (1) person in the unit is fifty-five (55) years of age or older.

d. A facility or community shall consider any one (1) of the forms of verification identified above as adequate for verification of age, provided that it contains specific information about current age or date of birth.

e. The housing facility or community must establish and maintain appropriate policies to require that occupants comply with the age verification procedures required by this subsection (7).

f. If the occupants of a particular dwelling unit refuse to comply with the age verification procedures, the housing facility or community may, if it has sufficient evidence, consider the unit to be occupied by at least one (1) person fifty-five (55) years of age or older. Such evidence may include:

1. Government records or documents, such as a local household census;
2. Prior forms or applications; or
3. A statement from an individual who has personal knowledge of the age of the occupants. The individual's statement must set forth the basis for such knowledge and be signed under the penalty of perjury.

g. Surveys and verification procedures which comply with the requirements of this subsection (7) shall be admissible in administrative and judicial proceedings for the purpose of verifying occupancy.

h. A summary of occupancy surveys shall be available for inspection upon reasonable notice and request by any person.

(8) Housing shall not fail to be considered housing for older persons if:

a. An individual who resides in such housing on or after September 13, 1988, does not meet the age requirements of this subsection (e), provided that any new occupant meets such age requirements;

b. One (1) or more units are unoccupied, provided that any unoccupied units are reserved for occupancy by individuals who meet the age requirements of this subsection (e); or

c. There are units occupied by employees of the housing (and family members residing in the same unit) who do not meet the age requirements of this subsection (e), provided they perform substantial duties directly related to the management or maintenance of the housing.

(9) A person shall not be personally liable for monetary damages for a violation of this subsection (e) if such person reasonably relied in good faith on the application of the exemption under this subsection relating to housing for older persons.

a. For purposes of this subsection (9), a person claiming the good-faith belief defense must have actual knowledge that the housing facility or community has, through an authorized representative, asserted in writing that it qualifies for a housing for older persons exemption.

b. Before the date on which the discrimination is claimed to have occurred, a community or facility, through its authorized representatives, must certify, in writing and under oath or affirmation, to the person subsequently claiming the defense that it complies with the requirements for such an exemption as housing for persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older in order for such person to claim the defense.

c. For purposes of this subsection (9), an authorized representative of a housing facility or community means the individual, committee, management company, owner, or other entity having the responsibility for adherence to the requirements established by this subsection (e).

d. For purposes of this subsection (9), a person means a natural person.

e. A person shall not be entitled to the good faith defense if the person has actual knowledge that the housing facility or community does not, or will not, qualify as housing for persons fifty-five (55) years of age or older. Such a person will be ineligible for the good faith defense regardless of whether the person received the written assurance described in this subsection (9).

(10) A facility or community claiming an exemption under this subsection (e) shall register with the FCHR in accordance with F.S. (2010) § 760.29(4)(e), or as that section may thereafter be amended. The information provided to the FCHR will be available to the public in accordance with the provisions of F.S. (2010) § 760.29(4)(e), or as that section may thereafter be amended. The registration and documentation required by this subsection shall not substitute for proof of compliance with the requirements of this subsection. Failure to comply with the requirements of this subsection shall not disqualify a facility or community that otherwise qualifies for the exemption provided in this subsection.

(f) Nothing in this article:

(1) Prohibits a person engaged in the business of furnishing appraisals of real property from taking into consideration factors other than age, race, color, religion, national origin, disability, marital status, familial status, sex, or sexual orientation.

(2) Limits the applicability of any reasonable local restriction regarding the maximum number of occupants permitted to occupy a dwelling.

(3) Requires that a dwelling be made available to an individual whose tenancy would constitute a direct threat to the health or safety of other individuals or whose tenancy would result in substantial physical damage to the property of others.

(4) Prohibits conduct against an individual because such individual has been convicted by any court of competent jurisdiction of the illegal manufacture or distribution of a controlled substance as defined under F.S. (2010) ch. 893, or as that chapter may thereafter be amended.
